Best Practices

Title of the practice: Clean Wari - Healthy Wari - Nirmal Wari - Green Wari (Pilgrimage)

Objective of the practice: The practice aims to preserve the cultural heritage of the Wari pilgrimage, an important part of Maharashtra's identity. Helping pilgrims who have arrived with "wari" by maintaining hygiene, assisting them with finding a place to stay, and conducting awareness campaigns. As a police friend volunteer, volunteer assist the officers.

These goals not only enrich the educational experience, but also show a dedication to protecting and advancing cultural and ethical values inside the institution.

Context: On July 2nd and 3rd, 2024 Sant Dnyaneshwar's palkhi spent two days in Saswad. On this occasion, about 800 volunteers from Waghire College and other local colleges took part in the "Pandharichi Wari". Savitribai Phule Pune University directed the organisation of "Pandhari chi Wari" in Saswad by the N.S.S/NCC Department of Waghire College and Savitribai Phule Pune University.

Practice: The Wari pilgrimage is an annual event in Maharashtra where saints like Sant Dnyaneshwar's padukas are carried in painted palanquins organised into dindi groups. Participants sing bhajans, perform kirtans, and recite devotional abhangas, creating a deeply spiritual ambiance.

On these days, several activities were carried out, such as the distribution of natural "Patravali," with about 200000 "Patravali" distributed during this activity, as well as the cleaning of the allocated area by collecting waste garbage or Nirmalya. Several awareness campaigns were conducted to educate people on how to compost manure from Nirmalya and other food waste.

On the final day of Wari, a municipal cleanliness programme was launched to keep the city clean. Our volunteers cleaned the Waghire College campus, the Saswad bus stop, Palkhi Tal, the Sopankaka Temple, and other locations during this event. Volunteers ran an awareness campaign to tell various "Dindi's" about the provision of free "Patravali" and urged them to dispose of the food and other leftovers properly. People responded positively to this awareness programme.

Proof of Success: Media clips were posted to news channels that broadcast news on television. The university also commended the college's efforts in organising the Pandharichi Wari.

Problems and Resources Required: During the Wari pilgrimage, participants face logistical coordination issues, health hazards like exhaustion and dehydration, environmental concerns like waste management, and social challenges like inclusion. Improved organisational planning, medical support infrastructure, environmentally friendly practices, community participation activities, and accessibility accommodations are all required to ensure a more seamless and inclusive pilgrimage experience.

The problem is that this event is so large that you must handle hundreds of people on campus; it is a difficult task, but happily, each of the college members involved is performing their individual roles.

Notes (optional): It is a large event with many duties, as well as a traditional, religious aspect to it. People have an emotional relationship to this event, which we must fulfil, and our institution plays a significant role in it.
